Heavy Wind And Rains Hit Carmel

High winds and drenching rains often approaching cloudburst proportions in the storm which began Tuesday night brought this season's total rainfall above last season's to date, while the gale uprooted trees throughout the Peninsula and caused power and telephone service disruptions in many parts of the district.

Storm damage in Carmel was confined to several fallen trees, and a smashed show window at Deckers grocery on Ocean Avenue. Police reported that a tree had fallen on Sunset School property, forming a traffic hazard, and that Mrs. Ernest R. Hill narrowly escaped injury when a limb snapped from a tree and fell in front of her car as she was driving at Dolores and Santa Lucia.

The Highlands area suffered a power shortage when limbs snapped a cable, and there were other power failures in both the Pebble Beach and Country Club districts. Crews from both the P.G. & E. and the telephone company worked throughout the night to restore service.

Rainfall recorded in Carmel since last Thursday morning has amounted to 1.96, with Tuesday night's storm accounting for 1.46 of the total amount. Wednesday and Thursday night tabbed up another half inch of the much-needed moisture.

The Carmel River, sluggish since early last year, was again flowing briskly, and yesterday the entire river bed at the Robles del Rio bridge sector was covered with water for the first time in a year.

The rainstorm brought unestimated relief to Carmel Valley farmers and reduced the need for irrigation. Crops thus far have in

Easter

Again as Spring comes singing across the land
Pressing bright heels into the gleaming grass
Trailing her scarf of flowers, I mutely stand
Silenced by miracle. The light winds pass;
The hills that died come laughing up from death,
The tree that bent its barren limbs awry
Naked of leaf, now draws a golden breath
And lifts a crown of laughter to the sky.

All things bereft of beauty on the field,
Bare broken boughs, high in the warm light swing
Blissful with bloom—the living flame revealed
From that white core where lay the heart of Spring.
And from these darkened times, though bleak and slow,
Who knows but yet a flowering tree may grow?

Brilliant Physicist Discusses Possible Solutions For Saving Civilization From Atom Bomb

BY ZENAS L. POTTER

W. Bradford Shank, one of the brilliant young physicists, who will speak at Pacific Grove High School next Wednesday evening, as part of Atomic Energy Information Week, is fortyish. Almost all of these scientists who created the atom bomb are of that age or less. He wears glasses, has hair that stands straight up and he looks the part of a scientist. But his outstanding feature is his earnestness, in feeling that one of the biggest jobs all atomic scientists face is telling the people about the good and bad implications of this terrific new force they have developed.

As a matter of fact, most of them felt that, when the public learned about this devastating new force, they would universally agree that there could be no more war, and organize to prevent it. Now that it is evident that this is not what is happening, the scientists are greatly disturbed and are doing everything in their power to tell the public the facts. They maintain a publicity bureau, they publish a monthly magazine, they have set up speakers' bureaus. When the public knows the facts, responsibility for what happens will be transferred to them. Until they do, the men who developed the bomb feel a deep sense of personal responsibility. Bradford Shank feels it so keenly that he has severed his scholastic connections, save for a limited arrangement with George Pepperdine College in Los Angeles, and is devoting his full time, lecturing, producing atomic energy films and providing technical advice to big Hollywood studios on atomic energy films.

Shank is alarmed, but not an alarmist. "Most of all," he says, "everyone should keep his head, and not be influenced by meaningless words and appeals to emotion and prejudice. It is important to know the facts and insist upon facts from those who would influence you. Words, ritual and hysteria are the tools of those who seek ends which will not stand the light of rational examination, "But," he says, "when one has the facts he should get into action, For words may guide, but only

LECTURE ON ATOM OPEN TO PUBLIC

W. Bradford Shank is being brought to Pacific Grove for his lecture next Wednesday night as part of that city's adult Education Program, but all residents of the Peninsula are welcome to hear him in the Atomic Education Week Programs. The place of his lecture will be the Pacific Grove High School Auditorium and the time will be 7:30 p.m. A film, of which he was co-producer, entitled "Where Will You Hide?", will also be shown. Admission is free.

Another mass meeting will be held in Monterey Monday night, and in Carmel Friday night. The Carmel meeting will be addressed by Robert D. Miller, official navy observer at Bikini.

State Board Rules That Chop House May Sell Beer

The protest filed against Fernand H. and Marjorie Colliard of the Chop House by William Hudson, representing the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, with the State Board of Equalization regarding the issuance of a beer license has been dismissed, it was learned yesterday.

A formal hearing on the matter was held on February 17 before E. A. McDonald of the state board and both sides were presented at that time. Mr. Hudson, city attorney, pointed out, in his protest, that the city's reasons for objecting to the issuance of the license were in no way personal, but were, rather, an effort to maintain Carmel standards. Mr. Colliard, representing himself, said that he was only asking for a license to sell beer which could be served with sandwiches and meals.

The mixup in the entire affair was caused by the fact that the city filed a protest on June 10, last day for recording such action, only a few hours after the state board had granted the Chop House a license.

The recommendation that the accusation be dismissed was received yesterday by City Clerk Peter Mawdsley.

Egg Sale Nets $550 To Date; More Needed

Approximately $500 has been realized thus far in the sale of eggs from Mayor Fred Godwin's hens, donated to the Carmel Boys' Club for the purpose of raising funds for the organization's proposed clubhouse. It is hoped that the goal of $5,500 may be reached.

Mayor Godwin donated 300 dozen eggs, gathered from his obliging La Playa Ranch white leghorns, and local organizations as well as private citizens have been cooperating in making the sale a success.

This week end, booths will be placed in front of the Post Office, the Bank of Carmel and Fortier's Drug Store.

On Tuesday a dozen eggs sold for $100. J. O. Handley paid that amount to Jim Cooke, one of the many local citizens who are devoting their time and efforts in this worthy cause.

Cooke also appeared at Tuesday night's meeting of the Lions Club and collected $246.50 from members. He brought 25 dozen eggs to the meeting and left with more than half of them, when purchasers returned the eggs to be sold again.

Mayor Godwin has offered as a prize to the seven boys who sell the most eggs, and to another seven who take in the most money

Lions Club Going All-Out For H.S. Swimming Pool

The Lions Club is going all-out to see that Carmel High gets its swimming pool. Al Fry, manager of La Playa hotel, has been made chairman of a committee which has as its aim the raising of the additional money needed for construction.

$30,000 is the goal. Harold Nielsen, school board chairman, told the Lions Club that this amount will be needed to add to the sum already on hand.

Methods for raising the money have not yet been decided on, but, says Fry, the help of the entire community will be needed in the project.

Carmel Voters To Be Notified Of Polling Places

Voters in the Carmel City Election for April 13 will know next week, by receipt of a Notice of Polling Place from the City Clerk, that they are eligible to vote. Anyone who does not receive a postcard notice, but who has previously voted at city elections, should see City Clerk Peter Mawdsley who has the corrected precinct registers and can verify any doubtful cases.

The notice will state the Polling Place to which the voter should go. Pricincts 1, 2, 7 and 10 vote at the Masonic Club, numbers 5, 6, 9 and 11 at the Fire House, and 3, 4 and 8 at Sunset School. These numbers are in the address plate on the card, and all voters are asked to take the card with them so that the clerks can save time in picking up the index containing the voter's name.

TIGERS UNDEFEATED IN ABALONE LEAGUE PLAY

The power-laden Tigers again turned back the Shamrocks threat to their top spot by overwhelming Huffman's best, 13 to 9, last Sunday at the high school field. Diligent employment of the home run signal by Manager Jack Giles kept the Tigers well in front for most of the contest. Round-trippers by Mel Ray, Jim Kelsey, and George Younkin were too much for the inexperienced Shamrocks to handle. Manager Huffman's only counter to the Tiger power was Lew Saunders, who combed Gile's offerings for a trio of safe pokes.

In the second game of the afternoon, Jack Whiteside's Giants kept within hailing distance of the pace-setting Tigers by taking a 12-10 slugfest from the cellar-dwelling Pilots of Allen Knight. The fielding gem of the season was turned in during this game when Mike Balazs, hustling Giant left fielder, went deep into right field and made a backhand stab of a sure extra-base hit. Mike was given a well-earned round of applause for the miraculous catch, and the kids present will long talk about how they saw the prize catch of the 1948 Abalone League season. George DeAmaral served them up for the winning Giants, while Manager Knight fired his blazing fast ball across for the Pilots.

Next Sunday at 1:30, the Giants and Shamrocks will battle it out for the second place spot in the league standings, while at 2:30, the Pilots will attempt to break the win column at the expense of the high and mighty Tigers.

FROST ROOFERS CHAMPS OF VILLAGE CAGE LEAGUE

Last Friday night at the Carmel High School gym, the Frost Roofing basketball team tangled with the Del Monte Kennels squad for the championship of Carmel Village League. After 32 minutes of see-saw play, the Roofers walked off with the first place trophy by the close score of 44 to 42.

The Del Monte club was in the contest all the time and led the half, 26 to 19. Morrison and Emerson paced the Kennels point-getters, while Thacker and Muniz were the big guns in the Frost offense. Frosts played the steadier game during the second half and outlasted the vets in the fourth quarter. Counting last Friday's victory, the champs have compiled the enviable record of winning 15 and losing 1 in Village League play. The Kennel club won 12 and lost 4 in league play. Third place went to the Harley Drive-In five, while the Carmel Boys' Club had a firm grip on the cellar spot of the A league. Top spot in the B division was picked off by the Ricketts and Freeman Sports Shop, with D&J Tailors in the runner-up spot. The Monterey Minatos were third and the Carmel Pine Cone acquired a lot of character in the bottom spot. A lot of basketball was played in the Monday and Wednesday sessions of the Village League, and much credit is due Officer Dufur and Gene Ricketts, directors of the league. The league gave a host of young men an opportunity to continue basketball competition after their school competition was finished. John Westover of the Carmel Adult School supervised all the games and contributed lots of time and experience to the organization of the league.

PADRE TENNIS SQUAD BLANKS SANTA CRUZ; GOLF TEAM LOSES

The Carmel High School tennis team, under the tutelage of Coach Harlan Reyburn, continued to dish out rough treatment to CCAL competition when they blanked a favored Santa Cruz squad, 7 to 0. The matches were played on the local courts last Saturday and brought the Padres one step nearer to a Peninsula natural—Monterey meeting Carmel with both teams undefeated in league play. Monterey figures to breeze through all competition in the CCAL and if Carmel is fortunate enough to get by Watsonville and Pacific Grove, the clash with Monterey would decide the league champions. Padre racket-wielders who carry the hopes of Carmel fans are Lee Winslow, Mike Monahan, Matt Schmutz, Jimmy Hare, Lee Langenour, Basil Allaire, and Howard DeAmaral.

A powerful Santa Cruz golf team defeated the Padres last Saturday, with Rod Dewar and Paul Baxter the only point-makers for the local cause. Santa Cruz has always been a power in the golf circuit and is favored to give Monterey the most trouble in the quest for the league championship. Amaya, Santa Cruz number 1 man, is considered the peer of prep golfers in the CCAL and is making a good showing in the Northern California Junior Championships being held in San Francisco. Coach John Westover is well pleased with the showing of his comparatively inexperienced golfers and expects them to cause trouble for the competition as the season advances. Jimmy Hare, number one shotmaker, is capable of shooting in the middle 70's, and with improvement being shown all along the line, Carmel should have a representative links squad. Golfers working out regularly are Murray Wight, Jim Hare, Paul Baxter, Bob Rissel, Peter Lyon, Gary Shaw, and Roderick Dewar.

SCORES EAGLE TWO

Ray Parga, assistant pro and caddymaster at Pebble Beach scored an eagle two on the tough 292 yard, heavily trapped ninth hole at Cypress Point Golf Club. Playing with Praga were Woody Lamb, Newt Bassler, Harry Clemens and Francis Shea.

Atomic Energy To Be Discussed At Monday Meeting

Dr. David Bradley, an expert on the medical phases of atomic energy, will speak at the Walter Colton school auditorium at 8:00 p.m., Monday, March 29. His subject will be Atomic Energy and Medical Science.

Dr. Bradley was assigned to the Manhattan Project during the war, and was at Bikini during Operation Crossroads, where he made tests of radioactivity in the air and on the ships after the explosion of the A-bomb. Recently he has been studying the effects of radio activity on mice.

Dr. Bradley's talk will be addressed to the first of three mass meetings on atomic energy information to be held on the Peninsula during March and April.

The second meeting will begin at 8:00 p.m. April 2 at the Sunset school auditorium in Carmel, and will feature Allan Cranston, chairman of the United World Federalists in Northern California. Cranston's subject will be Atomic Energy and World Government.

The meetings are open to the public.

Spring Comes To Mel Carr Through Damsel Invasion

Spring is officially here. So we are informed by Mel Carr who reckons his date, not from March 21, but from the annual Easter invasion of young ladies off from school for the holidays. Mel wandered, slightly dazed, into the Pine Cone office early this week and said simply, "They're here." We knew who he meant.

Carmel has been crowded all week with hundreds of sweet young things, all determined to ignore the slightly gusty breezes, most of them dressed in the regulation white shorts, painted toenails, and gaily-colored sweaters.

Mel Carr, perhaps the oldest resident of Carmel (he claims they named the town after him, spelling his name sideways), says he doesn't known whether the girls get prettier every Easter, or whether he's merely getting more appreciative in his declining years.

Joining in the spirit of Spring, Mel went strolling down the beach with a lively widow he has long admired—a spring chicken who won't tell Mel her age, but who cherishes a date in 1915, when a bartender asked her to prove she was twenty-one.

Mel was so moved by his outing with an attractive young woman that he wrote the following poem in her honor:

Tread softly, friend. Here blooms
a rose
beyond the month of withering.
Blow lightly, wind.

Burn slowly, sun, on petals yet
untinged with brown.
Fall gently, rain.

Mel says the nice thing about our Easter invasion is that it lasts two weeks. This week is dominated largely by students from Stanford University. As soon as they've gone the girls from Mills College, whose holiday comes a week later, will be arriving. When the Mills vacation is over, Mel fears, winter will return for a few brief weeks to Carmel.

Atomic Bomb Threat To Be Discussed By Women Voters

The public is invited to a general meeting of the League of Women Voters next Friday afternoon, April 2, at 3:30 in Sunset School cafeteria, to hear current views on meeting the threat of atomic bomb warfare. The two plans for world organization will be presented by speakers from the group promoting the plans. Mr. Edgar Bissanz of San Francisco will present the ideas of Federal Union Incorporated, the organization based upon Clarence Streit's book, Union Now. The World Federalists will be represented by Mr. Allan Cranston, chairman for the organization in Northern California.

For the past month the four study groups of the League have been studying intensively the atom bomb from the scientific and the social-political implications, with Mrs. Ferdinand Haasis directing the study. The League is now sponsoring this meeting to inform the people and arouse them to consider what action may be taken by the United States to avert another war. All members of L.W.V. and the general public are urged to attend this meeting.

Expect Red Cross Quota To Be Reached By End Of March

If contributions to the Carmel Chapter of the Red Cross continue to come in over the week end as they have been for the past seven days, the quota for 1948 will be reached by Monday or Tuesday in the opinion of Mathew Jenkins, chairman of the fund drive in Carmel district.

"We are very grateful to people in our district, which, as you know, comprises Carmel, Carmel Valley, Pebble Beach, Carmel Highlands, and Big Sur, for the generous response to letters sent out asking for contributions about ten days ago when our drive seemed to be lagging badly," Chairman Jenkins said this morning. "The response was remarkable and it again shows what Carmel district people will do when the emergency arises.

The offices of the Red Cross, at headquarters, and at the Carmel Land Company on Ocean Avenue, will continue to receive contributions until the end of the month. They can be made at these places or can be mailed to the American Red Cross, Carmel.

Funeral services were held this morning for Mrs. Minnie Mariah Antrim Campbell, 82, who passed away yesterday morning at a Pacific Grove rest home. She had resided in Carmel at the home of her son, Merrill Raymond Campbell at Monterey and First streets.

Famed Psychologist's Work Reprinted

BY MARIE H. TALBOTT

"It is the individual who is not interested in his fellowmen who has the greatest difficulty in life and provides the greatest injury to others. It is from among such individuals that all human failures spring." Such is the message that Alfred Adler brings to these disturbing times in his "What Life Should Mean to You," originally published by Little Brown & Company now reprinted by Grosset and Dunlap.

In searching for a true meaning of life this well-known psychiatrist points out that "true" means true for mankind, true for the purposes and true for the purposes and aims of human beings.

Individual psychology has found no problems in life which cannot be grouped under three main categories — occupational, social and sexual. It is Adler's conviction that all failures approach the problems of occupation, friends and sex without the confidence that they can be solved by co-operative means. The meaning they give to life is a private meaning. No one else is benefitted by the achievement of their aims and their interest stops short at their own personalities. They try to keep at a distance the three real confronting problems of life and confine themselves to circumstances in which they feel able to dominate. Their goal is always the same—to gain a feeling of superiority without working to improve the situation.

The man who meets the problems of human life successfully, on the other hand, acts as if he recognizes fully and spontaneously that the meaning of life is interest in others and co-operation. When he meets difficulties he tries to surmount them only by means consonant with human welfare.

If a man or woman wishes to make a contribution and if his emotions are all directed to this goal, he will naturally be bound to bring himself into the best shape for contributing. Granted the goal, the training will follow. Then, and then only, will he begin to equip himself to solve the three problems of life and to develop his abilities.

Each person, unconsciously often, has a goal of superiority towards which he is striving and with each individual the goal is personal and unique. It depends on the meaning he gives to life and this meaning is not a matter of words. It is built up in his style of life and runs through it like a strange melody of his own creation.

How do we form our meaning of life patterns? Adler contends that our meaning of life is arrived at in four or five years by dark gropings, by feeling not wholly understood, by catching at hints and fumbling for explanations. It is, therefore, foolish to treat a symtom in a disturbed child or older person. Instead, we must discover the mistake made in the whole style of life, in the way the mind has interpreted its early experiences, in the meaning it has given to life.

Three situations — imperfect organs, pampering and neglect — often give a mistaken meaning to life, and individuals from these situations almost always need help in revising their approach to life. A child with imperfect organs is inclined to think only of himself; a spoiled child is painfully ill-equipped for any of life's tests, and a neglected child is apt to feel the world is an unfriendly place. The first task of a mother is to give her child the experience of a trustworthy other person; later she must widen and enlarge this feeling of trust until it includes the test of the child's environment. The capacity to be interested in others must be trained and exercised or its development will be frustrated. Co-operation is the only safeguard we have against the development of neurotic tendencies.

The part that early memories play in helping the psychiatrist explain the attitudes taken by men and women are interestingly illustrated by stories taken from real life. Family and school influences, crime and its prevention, adolescence, occupations, dreams, love and marriage all come in for their full share of attention.

The book is one to attract the thoughtful reader eager to understand himself and those about him. Its potential helpfulness to teachers and parents is beyond question.

Heavy Winds And Rain Hit Carmel

no way been damaged by the storm.

The storm covered the coastal range with a fairly heavy snowfall, and mountain tops in the Jamesburg, Cachagua and Tassajera regions were all completely white yesterday morning.

Although only .93 inches of rain were recorded at San Clemente Dam, the Peninsula's water supply source, water company officials were grateful for any amount which might increase the level needed to carry through during the summer's dry months.

The Carmel Valley road was littered with stones and boulders caused by both the wind and the precipitation, and road crews patroled the highway to keep it cleared for traffic. A few fallen trees were reported from the Valley area.

Part of downtown Monterey experienced a telephone service disruption Tuesday night when a cable shorted. Included in the some 200 without phone service for a period was the Monterey Police Department.

Rainfall figures are:

This week's storm	1.96
Season	11.23
Last Year	10.44

Abalone Season Is Now At Hand

As many local enthusiasts know, springtime is also abalone time, and during low tides these days many Carmelites are out along the beaches to collect these succulent members of sea life.

The Fish and Game Commission in Monterey can tell you when the right low tides for collecting are due, but accompanying the low tide must also be a comparatively calm sea. To try and collect during a heavy sea is very dangerous, officials warn.

Those wanting to go "abaloneing" must also remember that a license is required, and one may be obtained at almost any establisment where sporting goods are sold. Also, it is wise to find out the size limit, or else face the possibility of paying a heavy fine for those found to be under the minimum requirements.

After cleaning the abalone, it must be sliced fairly thin and pounded with a wooden mallet or similar object to tenderize the otherwise tough meat. An excellent method of preparing the slices is to dip them in egg batter and cracker crumbs and then deepfry in cooking oil. Those who found deepfrying a chore may get just as good results from panfrying.

Egg Sale Nets $550 To Date; More Needed

for the eggs, a personally conducted trip to San Francisco to see a Coast League baseball game on Sunday, April 18. The opening date was cancelled when it was learned that it was a night game and a school day.

It is hoped that all the eggs will sell for not less than a dollar a dozen, and if anyone wants to pay more than the regular price for them, there will be no complaints.

In addition to buying the eggs, several Carmel residents offered to pitch in and help with the construction of the club building. Ken Roberts plans to sand the floors, Ernest Bixler will lay out the building plans, and Waldo Hicks will assist with the plumbing installations. Howard Timbers of the Carmel Press pitched in with 25 signs advertising the sale. Timbers asked for a goose egg in payment for the signs, and Cooke says he has finally rounded one up. Three gaily colored display signs were painted for the booths by James Solt.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press, just phone Carmel 1.

Carmel Music Society Presents Moiseiwitsch In Finest Concert Heard Here In Several Years

BY EBEN WHITTLESEY

The downpour Tuesday evening deterred only the fainthearted and the indifferent from struggling through the eddies and whirlpools of Carmel streets to hear Benno Moiseiwitsch play on the Music Society series. To the accompaniment of noisy rain gutters we heard some of the greatest piano music that has come to Carmel in recent years. Moiseiwitsch, who tided out the war in England, made Carmel his last stop before leaving the country for Australia and other foreign parts.

The program was an exacting one which called for sustained brilliance and a tremendous expenditure of sheer power and energy, that might have tired a much younger man. From the opening sonority of Bach's Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue to the final encore sparkling technique was matched with a sensitive poetic insight rarely to be found in a great virtuoso. The Bach selection allowed no concessions to an artist who finds it necessary to warm up to his keyboard. It was handled with a warmth and richness of imagination that brought out fully the poetry of the composer which is sometimes subordinated to mere mechanics. The dynamics of the interpretation suggested the qualities of the organ rather than the piano.

The Waldstein Sonata, Opus 53 of Beethoven was interpreted with equal power and brilliance. Sensitive emotional understanding and sparkling technique in the right hand were particularly noticeable. The first part of the program was concluded with the monumental Liszt B Minor Sonata, presented in a powerful and finished manner that gave full scope to the fine register of the Baldwin piano. Precision of execution was combined with great fluidity and smoothness of transitions. Like many works of Liszt, this composition gave ample scope for virtuosity and power, but is a little lacking in intellectual content. One is a bit overwhelmed by sheer quantity of tone and violence of contrast. The total effect of the first half of the program was unusually rich in variety and wide in range of feeling. Artist and audience alike were in neeed of a pause to catch their breath.

The second part of the program opened with the interesting Improvisations by Medtner, followed by Toccata by Khatchaturian. This, the most modern work on the program contained pleasant harmonies, not too strident with modernism, and was beautifully executed.

Two Rachmaninoff preludes, in B minor andG sharp minor were presented with great clarity and delicacy. Perhaps the high point of the evening was reserved for the last number on the program, the Paganini variations by Brahms. One could not have asked for a more satisfying performance of this work, both as to execution and sensitive shading of tone color.

Three encores; Finnish Dance by Palmgren, Little White Donkey, by Ybert, and the Chopin Minute Waltz rounded out the evening with the same finished style and delicacy of feeling which was characteristic of the whole performance. We missed our new piano, which could not be used for this performance.

Editor, The Pine Cone:

I am writing this letter to you with the hope that you will find it possible to convey its message to other Carmelites.

Several years have passed since the foggy mornings of watching phaleropes and pelicans with the Audubon Society. After two years at the University of California I transferred to Goucher College in Baltimore, Maryland, to be nearer to my fiance who is studying at the Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria, Virginia. Upon the vaguely successful conclusion of one semester at Goucher, I retired from my college career to prepare for our June wedding and to learn how the non-student populace is required to live. At present I am a secretary for the Seminary's Building Campaign Fund.

So few people realize the importance of training men for their Christian vocations. Our young men do not receive the majority of their theology by revelation alone, but rather, they spend three to five years studying the teachings of the great theologians in order that they may know more perfectly the concepts of their religious beliefs.

At the Virginia Theological Seminary men from all over the nation and from various foreign countries are studying for the Episcopalian ministry. At present a campaign is being sponsored by the Seminary in an attempt to raise money to build new dormotories and classrooms for the students. It is my personal prayer that the Carmelites may realize the urgent need for their contributions. Our young men must not be turned away from their Christian vocation simply because there is no room for them in our seminaries. Our immediate goal is $660,000. The rector of Carmel's All Saints' Episcopal Church is a graduate of the Virginia Theological Seminary. Please ask him about the work which this great missionary seminary has done and how you may help in the Building Campaign Fund.

Very sincerely,
Beva Pilling.

Therese Whiteside To Show Color Slides

Therese Whiteside will give a two-hour lecture in Carmel's Sunset Auditorium on Thursday, April 1, at 7:30 p. m. under the auspices of Mrs. Leota Tucker's class in photography. She will project several hundred slides in color to illustrate her talk.

A portion of the slides will be pictures taken with her new Contaflex Camera at night and in the fog and rain. Others will illustrate the use of a telephoto lens in pictorial photography, as well as close-ups of sea-gulls in flight. Mrs. Whiteside will show slides which have won awards in the California Camera Club, the Photochrome Club of San Francisco, and the Oakland Camera Club, all of which she has recently joined. The public is invited.

NOSEGAYS WANTED

As has been the custom for many years, the Garden Section of the Carmel Woman's Club is sending colorful spring nosegays to the county hospital in Salinas for the Easter breakfast trays. Those who can contribute nosegays for the project are asked to bring them to the Girl Scout House tomorrow between one and three o'clock.

Alfred Rogers

Services were held in Watsonville Thursday for Alfred Stevenson Rodgers, a resident of Carmel for three years. Mr. Rodgers was formerly in real estate in Philadelphia. He came here to visit his daughter, and stayed on in Carmel, living at Twelfth and Lincoln. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Roxanna Rodgers, a daughter, Kay Rodgers, and a niece, Mrs. Roy Larson.

Arrangements were handled by the T. A. Dorney Funeral Home in Monterey.

BE PREPARED

"Be Prepared" is the motto of the Girl Scouts and it certainly means a lot. When I joined the Girl Scouts I thought I would never be able to do the things they did. They could cook, sew, do folk dances, play many games, and do other things. I also thought it was going to be very difficult for me to get acquainted with the other members. But there were a lot of girls there I knew in Sunset School.

One week before Thanksgiving I became a Girl Scout. A little while later some more girls wanted to become Scouts, so they also passed their Tenderfoot test. Then Mrs. Vallon and Mrs. Sutton, our leaders, started us on our way to earn badges. Everytime we do a number of good things for one activity such as dancing, indoor and outdoor sports, we get one. Then we can sew it on our uniform. I am working on my Housekeeping Badge since I took care of our house two weeks. Most of the girls in our troop are working on their Hostess Badge.

I am in Troop No. 38. There are about 15 girls in our Troop. We have very interesting meetings which take place once a week. I enjoy the Girl Scouts very much.

WHAT I WOULD DO IF I LIVED ON A PINK CLOUD

If I lived on a pink cloud
I would drink pink lemonade,
And throw pink pennies in the penny arcade
I would swim in pink water in a blue emerald bay
And eat some pink cotton along the way,
I would have bright golden sunshine
And see people in a line
Trying to knock at my door to live a life like mine,
I would swing from a pink tree of cherries and lime
And I would stay on this cloud until the end of time.

Ruth Harrington.

A SURPRISE FOR MOTHER

"Tomorrow is mother's birthday," I said to my sister, "Let's make a birthday cake." I told my sister to go to the village to get flour, eggs, sugar, and milk. As soon as my sister came back with all the things we needed, I began to get ready to make the cake. It took me an hour to finish it. After I finished I began to clean up before my mother would come back.

My sister hid the cake while I finished cleaning up the kitchen. I went to the village to buy a present for my mother. The next day I bought a turkey. My father cooked it the way my mother liked it. After we had finished eating, I brought in the cake. Mother said it looked too beautiful to eat. After we each had a piece of cake my mother said that it had been a wonderful surprise.

Fifth Grade.

TRANSPORTATION

Transportation is a very old thing. It can be traced back to Columbus, to the Nativity, to the Phoenicians, the Egyptians, and on down to the prehistoric people. There are many kinds; some with motors, some with pedals, some with legs, some work with steam. All are means of transportation.

Bicycles have been used for over a century. 1818 brought the first. But it had no pedals, and was called a "walk-along," be cause when seated astride it, one pushed himself along with his feet faster than he could walk. The '80s brought the first real bike with pedals and a chain to transmit the power from the pedals to the rear wheel. My grandfather said that an English racing bike had no brakes, nothing. Just a frame, two wheels, a seat, handle bars, a chain and pedals.

Boats are about the oldest means of transportation that are still in use. They have been in use since the prehistorie days up to the present day.

Automobiles are a very common means of transportation. They have been used since the 1880's. There are many makes of cars in America. At a glance, I can tell almost any make of American car, but I can't do it so well with big trucks.

AWVS Begins New Hospital Crafts Sales Program

Mrs. Edward W. Cochrane, Monterey County chairman of the AWVS announced this week a new hospital crafts sales program which will enable the organization to continue the work of supplying veterans in hospitals with materials to make saleable objects.

Veterans are being taught handicraft by the American Red Cross but because that organization cannot sell the goods made by the men, the AWVS will also assist in obtaining markets.

Through this new plan, residents of Northern California will have an opportunity of winning a two-bedroom, ranch style house, with $1,000 for a lot anywhere in the section. The house will be completely furnished.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the organization or by contacting Mrs. Cochrane.

In the reorganization of the Monterey County branch, a feature of the program outlined for the year will be the taking over on April 18 of the Sunday night buffet at the Monterey YMCA for servicemen. Other organizations will take turns in sponsoring the Sunday evening affairs.

Ticket sale for the house will end June 1, and the drawing will be held June 12. The house will be on display at the San Francisco Home Show at the Civic Auditorium from April 7-14.

Raymond Duncan's Solo-Drama Puzzled Town Hall Audience Friday

"When a man has something to tell me," said a university professor to his seminar class, "I see no reason why I should insist on his telling me in my way instead of in his own way." That was three decades ago and the professor was speaking of free verse, which wasn't so generally accepted then as now. But that liberal and open mind was needed at the Town Hall program at Sunset auditorium last Friday evening when Raymond Duncan presented what was announced as a solo-drama in two acts which depicted the activities of his life, but which in no conventional sense was drama.

Appearing in white classic robe and barefoot sandals, moving about the stage and addressing imaginary companions of his early life, he voiced the ideas that gradually shaped his career. Disjointed phrases and broken sentences carried the listener back to the early psychology of the turn of the century and William James's "stream of consciousness" that suggested a series of events, often seemingly unrelated, hints of pictures and experiences incomplete and somewhat baffling, at first with little meaning for his audience, save in "—true to his independence—. The greatest building is made in one single life of a man."

He carried the action to ancient Greece—"we build an Acropolis"—but the simple life of a goat-herd held him, roaming the hills of Athens, with goats with classic Greek names, finding ancient relics, old terracotta treasures, and living on herbs. Then a great responsibility was thrust upon him, to which his hands were unequal: "We tried to feed thousands of people, with empty hands." The hands must find a way—spinning wool, using the spindle, gaining skill, until the spinning could create a city and feed and clothe thousands of people. The hands were wonderful. "Hands are more remarkable than all the machines in the world," he declared, stretch-out his own and flexing the fingers. This, action, doing things, is the center of living, but he ended the scene with cryptic words that brought relieved laughter from the audience: "What I have not said is better worth hearing than what I have said. And what I'll say later will be better—or worse!"

The second scene opened on the note of dress, and its artificial importance in the world, which finally led to Mr. Duncan's adopting a garb that he knows the world thinks is funny. But activity, harmonious action, coordinating one's physical life in doing worthwhile things, and expressing love for humanity, that is the reality in life.

"I have nothing to say, only a means to an end; that is the greatest thing in life, for people to be together, that is the key to the secret. Talk is cheap, but being together is wealth. Developing the art of living together, that is why I have come."

During the question period he expressed somewhat more fully his doctrine of actionalism, that every movement must be technically correct, to make life and the world correct. Herbert Heron, who was identified particulary with the early literary and dramatic life of Carmel, was moderator for the evening and introduced Mr. Duncan.

Have You Read . . . ?

By Eloise Carwyle

I was going to use the caption, In the Land of Youth; but this is not a review of James Stephens' delightful book of that title. That you will have to read. No review could be adequate. If you havn't read it you are to be congratulated, for the happy experience is still before you. No, this is just a little rememberance of things past in my own childhood. So there is no caption.

It was a few words in Lady Gregory's Journal that suggested it to me. Reading it beside a beautiful fire of Monterey pine on a cold evening, I came upon this: ". . . 'Queechy' and 'The Wide, Wide World', read in my childhood." I was astonished to learn that Lady Gregory had ever heard of those two old books. I was swept back into the Cumberland Mountains at the southern end of the Blue Ridge, to a hearth-fire of southern oak; and there, in the firelight, a small girl is bending over a book in an ecstasy of enjoyment as she follows the adventures of the old-style heroines in these tales. I believe the author of the books was one Elizabeth Wetherell. Strange that I should remember her name! I have never seen the books since. They were lent to me by someone, I can't recall now who it was. There was much exchange of books among friends and neighbors in those days. These were not, I think, considered literature even then; but I wouldn't take anything for the thrill I had in reading them.

This led to recollections of other early enthusiasms in reading. There wasn't then the vast quantity of books for children as published today; there was no Newberry Medal to encourage the best writers to exercise their talent on "juveniles," though we had Alice In Wonderland and Little Women and a few other deathless creations—and, of course, Scott and Dickens. I read nearly everything I could lay my hands upon. From our own bookshelves I took The Last Days of Pompeii, and joyed and wept over it. The heroine was a girl called Ione, wasn't she? I pronounced it in two syllables, not in the Greek way, and the sound of it pleased me—that long vowel tone. It was like the night wind in the trees. And I found there, too, a very beautiful little book bound in white, with gold lettering, the paper gilt-edged. I loved to handle it. It was called, The Greatest Thing In The World; and I read it—every word—and never forgot it.

In the same summer (I was eleven then) a playmate, a small boy, offered me a book of adventure in Africa. I accepted it politely, not at all certain I should find the pleasure in it that he assured me I would. However, it was a book, something to read, and before I had finished two chapters I was fully as excited as he could have hoped. I was chasing the savages, brandishing my weapon right and left, my war-whoops rending the air,—furiously happy. Could the book have been one of Du Chaillu's? I can't recall a single thing about it now except the wild delight.

But the most exalted experience of all came when I read St. Elmo, by Augusta J. Evans. Our village, at the foot of the mountain, was called St. Elmo, and often I had heard one or other of my parents tell some visitor it had been named for this book, the events of the first chapter having taken place on this very spot. Reading of the sinister, fascinating, supposedly wicked but apparently harmless St. Elmo Murray, and the beautiful, learned, pure and spotless Edna Earl, I was lifted to emotional heights beyond anything I had known before. I don't think my parents knew I read the book. I'm sure they didn't. If I were missing, I could usually be found under a tree or in the grape arbor with a book "under my nose", and they knew it was most often a book of fairy tales: Grimm, Anderson, Perrault, or the charming fairy tales of Oscar Wilde, especially The Selfish Giant and The Happy Prince. But, somehow, I managed to read St.

JUDAS TREE

Beneath this Easter-lovely tree
They buried what was left of me.
(Poor remains, when love and hope
Dangle from a coward's rope,
Strangled, on this tree of shame,
Cursed forever with my name.)
Thirty blossoms, gay and brave,
Drop in pity on my grave.

—Edith Lodge.

THE OLD ARE RESTLESS

Only the old can feel the prick and sting
Of the slow pulses that once raced and thrilled,
The fag of life is for remembering
Long disillusionment, dreams unfulfilled.

Now each new heartbeat is a lyric note,
Each glimpse a precious gift, there are so few,
Each word a burning liquor in the throat,
Each day a treasure to be ransacked through.

The old must be alert while they have these Moments of grace, they let so many go,
They cannot fold their hands and cross their knees,
This interval, this waning after-glow
They find no peace, they cannot be at one
With so much left to do, so little done.

—Alex R. Schmidt.

MUTATION

At length the reign of winter's cold
Will break in April showers,
And snow's cold purity will rise
In warm bright tones of flowers.

—Harriet Mills McKay.

THREEFOLD NATURE OF MAN

Who claims inheritance endowed the child
Respects a custom and the family tree.
Who finds environment the enemy
That wrapped the scion who was always wild,
Looks partly through the mist—both are beguiled.
There is a third domain that few can see
Which marks a man inheritor of three;
For humans enter earth well stamped and styled.

Who, mortal, rocked and cuddled you before
Your patient mother cradled you? The womb
Is just the matrix; but the quickening fire
That burned away the ramparts of that tomb
Was spirit; so your soul can sleep no more—
It is the child of an immortal sire.

—Helen Nivens.

MONTEREY PENINSULA COMMUNITY HOSPITAL

Chapter II

Grace Deere Velie Harris had stipulated in her will that at least one Director of the Clinic be appointed from a certain Title and Trust Company of Los Angeles and the Board was then further enlarged to include members from the local communities.

At this critical time in the history of the Clinic one of the southern members of the Board of Directors advised closing the hospital and putting the property up for sale. It was considered by various hotel owners and at one time there was some talk that a Chiropractic College was contemplated. Finally the heirs, believing that it would best serve the purpose for which it was intended by being under the control of those most able to continue the research and even to expand the facilities of the Clinic, offered it as a gift to the State of California, the County of Monterey, the City of Carmel and to Stanford University but at that time the depression gripped the country and no group had the courage to accept a responsibility involving a continued outlay of funds.

So it looked as if the beautiful building, the fulfillment of a dream for the betterment of mankind had become a white elephant to Mrs. Harris' heirs. About the time they were ready to close it and put it into the hands of a caretaker, civic-minded citizens of the Peninsula also had a dream. It was for a general hospital to serve the needs of all the communities of this region. Dr. R. A. Kocher called together all the practicing physicians of the Monterey Peninsula and suggested that if they would pledge their support he would propose to the other members of the Board of Directors that the Clinic be made over into a Community General Hospital with local subscriptions to finance any additions or improvements. At the same time he agreed to resign both from the Board of Directors and as a medical-director and to resume his private practice. This proposal was accepted and funds were raised by subscription in the community for the addition of a surgical and obstetrical unit.

And so it happened that in October, 1934, the Articles of Incorporation were amended and the name changed to Monterey Peninsula Community Hospital (Gace Deere Velie Foundation), a non-profit organization, governed by a Board of Directors composed of community-minded citizens. It was arranged that any profits made on the venture were to go back into the hospital. In other words, it must be self-supporting and the small amount of the trust fund left by Mrs. Harris was to be kept as a protective backlog in case of unforeseen disaster.

Shortly after the reorganization of the Clinic to the General Hospital, Miss Katherine Smits, a graduate of Johns Hopkins Hospital of Baltimore, Maryland, became its Superintendent. That was in 1935, and Miss Smits still acts in the same capacity. It was largely through her efforts that many improvements have been made during the years since the reorganization was effected. A very beautiful building to house the nurses was built at one end of the grounds. It contains seventeen private rooms, one separate apartment and a fully equipped kitchen and laundry. Each room has running water and there are several baths in the building. Fairy godmothers in the persons of Miss Ada Howe Kent and her friend Mrs. Kilpatrick, both of Carmel Highlands, furnished the new building completely.

When the nurses moved from the main building down to their new home the wing they had been occupying was turned into maternity

Dr. Billie's Garden

By L. A. W.

Do you remember the scarlet runner vine that Miss Phoebe had along her fence? How she petted and talked to those vines and went out every day to pick off the little pods so she would have more of the brilliant scarlet blossoms? How all during the September moon she covered the vines every night with a sheet so they would not be frostbitten? Sometimes, you know, she could save them until well into November. It's the same kind the English people use for green beans, too. In fact, they scarcely know our more delicate Bountiful, Tender Pod, to say nothing about the delicious Brittle Wax and Stringless Wax or the Kentucky Wonder pole bean. They love 'em.

These Scarlet Runners have to be staked, brushed, or provided with poles or wire because they run six to seven feet high. The flowers are beautiful, the pods often ten to twelve inches long, meaty and with a decidedly nutty flavor. They have tough strings but these are easily pulled off and the pods cut into bite size—depending on the size of your bite. They cook quickly and are rich in vitamines and minerals. I shall have a few extra seeds I am sure. Too bad to throw them away.

Well, that's the story of the beans. A dozen seeds will provide amply for a family of four. That's a ten-foot row. They are worth a try in anybody's garden.

More onion sets are going in all the time. I set them not over two inches apart and then as they grow pull out every other one—or more—to use for green onions in salad. Those not used small can be left to make excellent dry onions with a very delicate flavor. Pulled along in October and allowed to dry they are stored in a cool, dry place and keep usable way along into January.

Oh! The other kinds of beans? No, I have not had any luck planting them until some time in April. One year the seeds came up very well, the plants grew slowly, the leaves were a sickly yellow, and I never did get any beans until after the April sowing had come along. Not more than half a crop at that. Probably beans just do not like cold weather.

Sweet corn? Well, that's another warm weather-hot nights lover. I tried it a couple of years but the return of labor and space was so meager I don't fool with it any more. Yes, I agree, fresh sweet corn from stalk to pot is food for the gods but—well, I am not willing to pay the labor, water and garden-space price. A thick porterhouse steak is good food isn't it? Don't know? Come to think of it I've forgotten, too.

Last week I heard the quail shouting down in the Van Riper lot. They kept saying "po-ta-to" just as the crows back east shout "cawn, cawn, cawn." Well, old fellows, I'm ahead of you this year. The potatoes are all up and the leaves so large and tough you don't like them. But keep away from those young peas and beets or I'll sic the cats on you. I'm willing to share some of my garden with you but please use a little discretion and leave me part of it. You are a beauty but you can also be an awful nuisance. So, have a heart, won't you?

SCREEN TOUR PROGRAM

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society last week completed plans for presentation of the fifth event of this season's Audubon Screen Tour series. Dr. Telford H. Work will show colored motion pictures entitled Bits of Land Along the Coast, at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday, April 7, in Sunset Auditorium.

The Society voted to present another Screen Tour series of lectures next year if the program arranged by the National Audubon Society meets with the approval of local members.

quarters. An addition to the wing was made giving a large modern nursery and two additional rooms for patients. This was one of the first hospitals in the state to install the individual table service for the care of new-born babies.

A small private hospital had been built by Mrs. Edith Shuffleton at the corner of Pico and Santa Fe in La Loma Terrace. After operating it for some time, the owner leased it for a hotel which was called Forest Lodge. Then came World War II and war-time restrictions made it difficult to continue to operate, so the Lodge was closed. Mrs. Shuffleton then gave the building and grounds to Stanford University and they in turn leased it in March 1943 to the Community Hospital as an Annex for their overflow of patients, particularly for those who were convalescents. However the Annex is fully equipped to take care of all medical cases although it cannot handle surgery nor obstetrics. It is a charming place with its cheerful rooms, patios and verandas, and its Mrs. Margraves to superintendent it and give it her personality and the home atmosphere.

UNDERGROUND

PUBLIC water supply systems comprise one of America's largest industries. In 1947, the 13,000 water works of the United States delivered some 12,500 million tons of the vital fluid to 85,000,000 people. But in spite of the vastness of this great industry, very little of its physical plant is visible to the naked eye—the greater portion of it being underground, spread out in a complicated network of pipes and valves. Below the surface of the earth are the life lines of the community, extending in all directions, carrying water from its sources to users everywhere.

Easter Show At Art Gallery Will Remain Until April 1

By Nancy Lofton

A group of pictures more or less vaguely related to Easter is being shown until April 1 in the Beardsley Memorial Gallery in the Carmel Art Association building. On April 1 a new general show of the work of members of the association will be hung including oil paintings, water color and sculpture. Sunday, April 4, the public is invited to a tea in honor of the new show.

The Beardsley Gallery in which is hanging the Easter show has been cleaned and redecorated, and the gallery looks at least twice as bright and three times as large as it did previously. Very fine sunlight comes in the skylight to illumate in the present case a show which will arouse no great emotion in anyone's bosom. There are, however, several pleasant pictures in the show and the general effect is bright and clean. The subject matter in the show will be a surprise to no one, with one or two exceptions. In response to the call for Easter pictures the artists responded with paintings of flowers, churches, children and madonnas. Pauline Pierson's large pink flower is painted with infinite, subtle and nebulous gradations of tone. Nell Walker Warner's Matilija Poppies has considerably more body, and E. M. Heath's Calla Lilies are cool and crisp. Vivian Mahoney's Axalea has pleasing areas in it, and Tom Valiant's flower study has the explosive quickness characteristic of his work, although his color is more subdued in this canvas. Leslie Emery, Florence True, Ferdinand Burgdorff, Arthur Hill Gilbert, E. J. F. Timmons and George Mathias have all contributed pictures of the Carmel Mission in various moods and aspects. George Seideneck and Marjorie Doolittle and William Watts all are represented by pictures of other churches, Mr. Seideneck's picture being quiet and modest, Mrs. Doolittle's being quick and light and very delightful and Mr. Watts' being a somewhat rich study of the Spanish chapel at Ronda built in commemoration of a memorable day upon which Queen Isabella's horse lost her shoe. A portrait of a child and a grasshopper, light and appealing, by W. K. Fisher, a graceful still life by Catherine Seideneck, a fresh white church by De Neale Morgan, a figure study by Thomas McGlynn, a still life by Abel Warshawsky, a madonna by Celia Seymour, a group of Nora Nichols Grabill's draped and mystic figures, in drift wood, a sculptured fragment by Hoyland Bettinger, a crucifix by Alec Miller and a ceramic head by Mauno Oittenin complete the Easter show which will hang until March 31. The current oil show and water color show in the large gallery are somewhat more interesting and will remain on the walls until the same date.

KITE DAY APRIL 10

Carmel youngsters are looking forward to April 10 when the annual Kite Festival will be held, unless the weather man again says "no, no." The festival had originally been scheduled for the 13th of March but the damper was put on by old Jupiter Pluvious, with the result that there were 250 disappointed kids, but just about the same number of joyful farmers.

Philippines Will Be Discussed At Missionary Society

Memories of the Philippines will be related by Miss Matilda Weber and Miss Hildegard Swenson for the Carmel Missionary Society on Tuesday afternoon, March 30, at the Church of the Wayfarer, beginning at 2:30. Miss Weber was for many years a missionary in the islands, and Miss Swenson taught school for some years there. Both have retired and are making their home together on the Monterey Peninsula.

The Carmel Missionary Society was organized more than forty years ago and is interdenominational, with meetings quarterly, alternating between Wayfarer and All Saints' churches. Mrs. Fenton Grigsby, co-chairman for the Wayfarer women, will be in charge of the meeting. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Elmo to the end without being caught. And I am still exulting in it. Think what I should have missed had I not read that extravagant novel! Not one of these books have I ever opened in the years that have intervened; but I recall that memorable summer with immense satisfaction.

The last words that Mr. Lennox Robinson gives us from Lady Gregory's Journals are these: "I sometimes think my life has been a series of enthusiasms". Could anything be more desirable? And Ninon de l'Enclos once remarked that "the force of a soul is to be measured by its capacity for joy". Contemplating this, it seems to me I ought to be a rushing mighty wind.

Gold Coasters Have Another Hit In "Moonshiner's Daughter"

Fervent is the word for the Troupers of the Gold Coast in "The Moonshiner's Daughter," the latest melodramatic feat at California's First Theatre in Monterey. Director Frances Dill made the most of fortunate casting. Particularly impressive are villian-player Carl Fowler's eyes which swing from their sockets like two black tocsins of peril when he peers into the stage from the wings.

James Rassmussen and Bill Clark, who gave engaging portrayals of two very different hero types, are to be complimented for their admirable utilization of asides to the audience. Helen Taft and Eddie George as the parents of the Moonshiner's Daughter made a quite believable mountaineer couple. In two comedy parts Carmen Mercante and black-faced Frank Smith were enjoyably amusing every time they took the stage. And the heroine, Virgina Ward, was charming, absolutely.

Fervid is the word for Eddie George's enthusiasm for the theatre. He goes about his tasks as Master of Ceremonies and olio participant withe quiet dignity of an atom bomb. Fantastically funny are the words for his musical sketch, "Come into the Garden, Maude," Pardon the trite phraseology but Eddie and the invisible Maude are, all by themselves, worth the price of admission.

Other acts of the olio which are certain to sustain the laughter of almost any audience include "Every Little Movement" by Carmen Mercante and Carl Fowler and the admirable comments of Unprotected Spinsters Ivy Lauer, Ruth Neuffer, Helen Taft, Sherrie Henderson and Betty Bass. We were pleased too with the facial contortions of Betty Bass in "These Shoes Are Killing Me." Good settings were the contribution of Maxine Albro and Herman Korf. The olio was written and directed for the First Theatre by Malcolm Whitman, Jr.

Performances of "The Moonshiner's Daughter" are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday nights through March, April and May.

The Time Has Come . .

By KIPPY STUART

Be Kind To Daffodil Week

We gardeners can be downright cruel. We plant something in the ground and at the time feel genuine enthusiasm. A beautiful flower will reward us for our efforts. Off we go expecting nature to do the rest. Nature can be depended upon to do her best, but Nature is helpless all by herself and the responsibility for failure or success belongs to the fellow who started the whole business.

Daffodils are so willing to thrive. They need so little care, but what care they do need is vital to their development. They have few enemies. I have never heard of aphides attacking them, and, thank goodness, gophers give them a wide berth. Our homes have been showered with golden beauty now for weeks and the season for blooming bulbs is not yet over. When the season is over, then comes our turn, and it is up to us to determine the life or death of the bulbs in our gardens.

A daffodil bulb is a mysterious, awe-inspiring bit of life. The bare-rooted rose bush, that is placed in the ground, must depend upon the elements to develop flowers and to nurture the plant. Not so the daffodil. Unlike any other growing thing, the bulb, at the time of planting is a mature, complete entity. Within the heart of the bulb lies the infant flower in embryo, like a sleeping child in its cradle. Romance and drama surround the daffodil. The bulbs come to us from all over the world, bringing with them strange and exotic pictures. Who can see a field of daffodils and not go poetic with Wordsworth?

"For oft, when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills
And dances with the daffodils."

How nicely articulate Wordsworth made this emotion for us; the experience of seeing a field of daffodils.

For goodness sake, lets get down from this high horse and do a little practical thinking. What do we do to be kind to daffodils? The answer given me when I asked this question was, "Let 'em alone!" After the season is over and we have clipped the last bloom, daffodils have a way of becomming a nuisance. We want the ground for other purposes and we want to yank out the bulbs and forget them. Soon, the long green fronds begin to yellow and droop. What an unsightly thing to have along the front of the house! This is the time to hold our horses, for we are in the presenec of profound mystery. Those yellowing fronds are working like the mischief to make flowers for next year. If we cut off the fronds we cut off the bulb's food supply and in doing this we destroy the power of the bulb to recreate itself.

When planting bulbs it is smart to sow over them seeds of annuals that come into bloom when daffodils begin their nuisance career. Last November we should have sown Virginia stock, llanaria, baby blue eyes or other annuals of sufficient height to cover the drooping fronds. But, we didn't plant seeds last year; we didn't get around to it. No harm done. You still can protect the daffodils and prevent an eyesore. It is too late to plant seeds. Get flats from your nursery and plant between the daffodils annuals that will attain a height of about one foot. As your annuals begin to go up, the daffodil fronds begin to go down. Either braid, or wrap, or peg them to the ground. In June or July, when the fronds have all turned brown and brittle, cut them off, and you have done your duty. It isn't advisable to lift daffodil bulbs the first year. It takes about four years for the bulb to develop and multiply and by that time you can safely lift and separate them.

Dick Lofton Speaks To Art Students

Richard Lofton, Carmel painter, spoke to a group of sophomore art majors last Wednesday at Salinas Junior College.

Mr. Lofton brought several of his own paintings and discussed ideas about art and his own methods of composition. After his introductory discussion, he answered many questions presented by the college art students.

Prior to the war, Mr. Lofton painted and taught on the east coast. After being stationed at Fort Ord, he decided to make his home in Carmel. An active artist, and member of the board of directors of the Carmel Art Association, he is steadily gaining wider recognition.

Another farewell celebration was held last week, this time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Ekert in Carmel Valley Sunday evening. The party was to bid adieu to Mrs. Ekert who left Wednesday with her daughter Catherine for New York, where they will sail on April 2, aboard the S.S. Media, for England. Mrs. Ekert has not seen her native country for two years and she hopes to spend at least three months visiting there.

Farewell Celebration

A farewell party to send off Virginia Varda and Frances Ney in good spirits on their Easter driving trip was given by Jean Varda in San Francisco last Saturday night. Reminiscent of famous parties in his Monterey Barn, the new studio has the same long entrance of stairs opening on to an enormous room glowing with the color of collages hung about, deep pink walls, candles throwing streaks of color over the mass of dancing guests. At one end of the long gallery-like room a bar had been set up where plates of delicious food and glasses of hot wine were served. There were so many people that it was almost impossible to move about but they gradually thinned out and it became easier to greet one's friends. As usual at a Varda party the guest list was composed of the great and lowly in the art world with always a good sprinkling of solid social names. Quite a contingent arrived from Carmel, including, John Grace, Mrs. Richard Wright, Louise and Neville Cramer, Virginia Varda, John Ney, Frances Ney, Marie Short, Jake Kenny, June Degnan, and Gertrude and Dan Harris. Others from San Francisco who are constant visitors to Carmel were: Franz Berman, Marie Sandow, Mrs. Haakon Chevalier, Donald Kalish Denning Watterson, Mrs. Peggy Street, and Jan Garth.

The women were in wonderful and gay costumes of bright color as their host had insisted that they all come gowned as Varda Women, which meant much decollete, tiny waists, and flowing brilliant skirts. Most exciting costume was worn by Frances Ney who appeared in a stunning Thibetan jacket with a long slim dinner skirt. The jacket, molded to her figure, with peplum effect at the waist, was of blue, rose, yellow satin set with sparkling bits of glass and shining stones.

As the guests cleared away rhumba music poured through the room and the gayest part of the evening began. Distinguishing himself for a beautiful South American rhumba was Commander Bill Young whose gold braid was a striking opposite to the artists' smoking jackets and tweeds, but whose rhumba had everyone applauding. And so the party went on to a dancing dawn.

News From Capetown

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Townsend formerly of Carmel who moved to Capetown, South Africa, last winter, write that all homes in this town are named and had hoped to name theirs Carmel, but found that some other nostalgic soul had preceded them. But they revived their spirits and settled on the name of Del Monte. Around them are San Francisco, Beverly Hills, Los Angeles and San Jose. They report that Capetown has wonderful shops and choice sirloin steak at only 30c. American products however, such as prepared breakfast foods and fruit juices are twice as high as they are here in the states.

Authentic Version?

Everyone has been making eager inquiries about the status of the "Medea" lately produced in San Jose and Palo Alto. This "Medea" unfortunately is not the Robinson Jeffers version of Euripides' play which is currently a smash hit on Broadway. This version will not be released for amateur production until after Judith Anderson has taken it on a nation-wide tour.

Opening for the first time in almost three months, the Pat Wall Gallery in Monterey had its first spring showing with the paintings of Onslow Ford. Among them were: Virginia Varda, Mr. and Mrs. Neville Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. John Upton, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Arris, Mr. Paco Ferro, Virginia and Barbara Blair, Romaine Whettmore, Leonard Woolf, Remo Scardigli, Nancy Tackett, Manette Franke. What it's like to be a telephone installer

1. Some of the busiest fellows in town. Pacific Telephone's installer-repairmen. For we're adding a lot of new telephones every day in the West. It's steady work. And the pay? Latest records show top rate men average about $80 a week for 42 hours. The younger men graduate up to the $80... according to experience.

2. If you became an installer you'd start, most likely, in a training school. With pay, of course...$37 or $38 a week. Then regular increases for eight years after you got on the job. You'd be given other training, too...to help you learn your way up the ladder. Most all the top men in the company came up that way.

3. Fun like this is more fun when your job's secure. And you can count on telephone work. There's a fine benefit plan, too, paid for entirely by the company. It covers sickness, accidents and death, and provides a helpful pension for retirement. There's nothing like the peace of mind a telephone job gives you...at work or at play.

4. Telephone jobs must be good jobs to attract the capable people needed to furnish good service. Good pay, steady work and an employee benefit plan give a strong sense of security. Comfortable surroundings, vacations and friendly fellow workers help make work pleasant.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company

More than 70,000 people working together to furnish ever-better telephone service to the West

April first is a two pronged maneuver when April Fool's Day conjuncts with the opening of the charmingly rustic CAROUSEL in the valley. Closed for three months the CAROUSEL will feature interesting lunches and dinners for the connoisseur every day of the week and will serve drinks in an artistic bar room. Host and hostess in a double managing arangement will be Michael Franke, Kay Brownell. April Fool's Day will have you in a gay wicked mood and you can carry on with it at the CAROUSEL opening.

As you enter the DECORATOR SHOP impish trolls almost jump at you from the wall where they are perched. In belled red peaked caps with peaked boots and whimsical expressions these droll trolls are wired for activity, for any Puckish ballet pose. More sedate character dolls, all precisely hand made are the Carolers tailored in fine plaids and tweeds, the beloved Dickens characters of old Scrooge, Mrs. Cratchit, Bob Crachit and Tiny Tim, and four most demure, most severel Little Women. You will be delighted to view these amazing dolls, and you can place your orders for them with Mrs. Moore at the DECORATOR SHOP.

Easter morning breakfast before services is consideration time for the best breakfast possible, and such can be found at the quaint and delightful TUCK BOX on Dolores street. Serving tea, hot scones, and right touch omelettes you will be stimulated for the day's adventures. Or after you have completed your devotional respects, lunch or afternoon tea will be waiting for you at the TUCK BOX. We can offer you no better advice than to relax in this tea center. And you with families, don't forget that children can be made just as happy with tea and scones and restful surroundings as you can be.

Moving from Tyler street in Monterey, BILL COYLE, FLOORS, is now located on Alvarado. This shop features custom styled floors, and displays carpets, linoleum, rubber tile, and plastic walling which is installed like brick work. Smarten your new homes and shops with floor designing by BILL COYLE, FLOORS.

A beautiful room has been opened in the POOR SCHOLAR'S BOOK SHOP on Polk and Hartnell which will be known at the Judge's Chambers due to its usage in 1851 when the building was the first Federal Court in California. The finely decorated room, with antique marble topped table, paper flowered curtains, and green walls, will be used to house old books, first editions, special collector's items. Those of you inexcapably imbued with a book loving spirit will delight in browsing through the shelves in the Judge's Chambers.

Opening last Friday, Ted Decker's shop featuring VELLENGA ORIGINALS is dramatically interior decorated with sweeping green curtains, green walls, and touched with cream white in window fringes, table tops and flowers. Along with all the interesting linens, VELLENGA ORIGINALS feature delicious glove cases with scuffs to match in combinations like black taffeta studded with pink sequins, or aqua satin set with artificial violets. White satin pouches with delicate painted design or touched with sequins are ready for milady's intimate travelling needs. They are wide, roomy and ready to carry anything. For your aesthetic taste, even if you are sans shopping list, have a look—over at Ted Decker's shop on Dolores.

An amusing lamp to catch more than passing attention can soon be seen at the LAMPLIGHTERS on Mission in the form of a replica of an early American Eagle cooking range set with solid brass and copper miniature utensils, with a tiny oven which opens to reveal more copper ware. The lamp is adjustable and a tiny kettle set on top serves as the fenial. The whole thing is shaded by a spreading rectangular section of blue checked taffeta with red satin trim in the ruffle and bow. Get spring shaded at the soon-to-be-opened LAMPLIGHTERS.

Stunning, exciting, and everything in the book is the minimum we can toss to the Ballerina ring designed by Mr. Bauer at the HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT. A huge domed ring of gold is set with your own jewels or those provided for you by the HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT. The particular one that we saw was set with rubies, garnets, diamonds and tourmalines, and just one minute's try on was enough to convince us of the ring's irrisistible qualities of chic, dash and superb come hither appeal. Order one, by all means, and saunter the avenue with the smartest thing yet in the ring ware.

Water colorists are being catered to at the CARMEL ART SHOP where a new shipment of Winsor and Newton artist water colors has arrived, where artists will find English, Italian, and French water color paper, and Whatman cold pressed board for water colors. This looks like an excellent opportunity to get into the CARMEL ART SHOP and put in a good supply of your favorite colors and paper for spring outdoor painting trips.

The VILLAGE BOOKSHOP is going all out to make the children happy at Easter time with a large assortment of children's books: rabbit books, and a newly arrived assortment of Little Golden Books with pretty covers, lots of colored pictures, and several new titles in case you are collecting. The VILLAGE BOOKSHOP also has a wide range of Bibles so that you may find exactly the binding you want.

Did you know that KIP'S will be open on Easter Day? Open every day but Christmas is that energetic grocery store's slogan and you will find them Easter ready with Easter tenderized hams, or Armour's cooked ham in cans, large fresh ranch eggs for Easter hunting, and a marvellous assortment of bright dyes to get them ready for those nests. You will also find a good supply of poultry, fresh or Bird's Eye frozen chickens, all ready to be fried up for Easter dining. Have a good shopping time at KIP'S.

Spring comes to JOAN REXFORD'S tea shop where spring flowers sport color on the tables and wonderful fat candles add more color. The whole shop has been done over so that the walls gleam pale sea foam green and star shaped lamps swing overhead. In this spring atmosphere you are served delicious teas and luncheons on unusual pottery dishes home-made in Carmel. You will not fail to be impressed by the home-made pies and cakes and the superlative ice cream.

Carmel cottages, listen to this: the infra-read Panelray heaters at WALDO HICKS shop on Junipero are really comfortable companions for they can be moved around, are placed on the floor, not in the wall, give volcanic heat, and yet never get so hot that you could burn yourself on any section of them. Babies playing about will duly appreciate this. Panelray comes in smart tones of brown or grey and gives a cheery uplift to any room, in fact they might have been designed with a Carmel cottage in mind.

To please you, intrigue you, and make you beautiful, the VILLAGE JEWELERS has a blazing supply of jeweled gifts for your Easter pleasure. Heaps of pearls, single or double, bracelets, or neckless, earrings in yellow and rose gold combinations to go with the new short hair styles, necklets and bracelets to match these and gold and silver round beads, strikingly simple. 'Teen agers will be pleased with the anklets waiting to be engraved for them. And the whole time-confused-town will be pleased with the new shipment of those popular baby alarm clocks.

Just for fun go in and look over the interesting Mexican decor of the SU VECINO shop on the corner of Dolores and Sixth. Serapes, beautiful, colored glass ware, boxes from Urapan, pottery plates, all these and more decorate the walls and shelves of the SU VECINO. Not to mention the delicious array of Mexican delicatessen foods arrayed in the glass cases: corn tortillas, rice, enchilades, tamales, cheeses. And keep your eyes and dinner engagements open for the day when the restaurant will open and you will be served the delicious foods as well as carrying them away with you.

Things look too pretty—almost too good up at the HANSEL AND GRETEL shop on Ocean where lovely baskets from 30c to $3.50 are sitting all over the place and filled to the brim with delicious Easter goodies. And those trays of cream Easter eggs, large and small, and fancifully decorated, are true and eatable. There are literally hundreds of these cream eggs wrapped in brilliantly colored papers. The HANSEL AND GRETEL shop will make your Easter hunts come true.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How to Keep 'Em Down On the Farm

The other day Pete Swanson's nephew, Bud, allowed as how he was fed up with farm and country life ... and was going to the city where there was a lot more opportunity and excitement.

Some folks might have tried to stop him. But not Pete. He even advanced Bud carfare for the trip ... figured that when he'd had a good look around, he'd come back where he belonged.

And what happened? After seven days of big-town bustle and excitement, Bud was back behind the wheel of a tractor, with color in his cheeks again. And he'd traded the night life of the city for a quiet glass of beer with Dad.

From where I sit, that's how it goes. Try to prevent some one from getting what he thinks he wants—and he'll go on wanting it. But give him his head, and he'll settle for the sensible thing—whether it's country life, or a temperate glass of beer!

you've ever spent and they know that the best way to do it is with flowers. They have all the spring flowers, wonderful small flower addenda for corsages, peach blossoms, plum blossoms for decorations and marvellous potted plants and ferns to take care of all your imaginative fancies for spring arangements. Mr. Carter sends greetings to you, and he hopes his flowers have helped you to have the happiest Easter of all time.

Along with all that great luggage supply we told you about last week starting at $11.75 to $18.75 carried at the LEATHER SHOP on Alvarado comes a new shipment of smart bags priced at $6.95 plus tax. The bags are in natural saddle finished leather and there are hand bags and shoulder bags with adjustable straps to make them suitable for closer carrying. There are nine different styles, six colors, among them a bright green, a natural brown, and a wonderful deeper rich brown fashioned into a superb small compact satchel.

Neck wear and shirt gear are being featured at BRANSON'S MEN'S SHOP where the smartly tailored male will want to select his spring accessories and his smartly dressed wife will want to select his Easter gift. Dress shirts, figured, striped, or solid, along with white Oxfords are being shown. And to go with them are Regence wool ties by Botany, pure silk ties, and silk knits in solid colors suitable for dress or sport. To go with the ties is a complete assortment of tie clips, a chic new kind of open clip through which the tie slips, and all kinds of conservative or novelty sport type clips. So check those accessories as you dress and let BRANSON'S MEN'S SHOP supply the links of missing shirt, or tie or clip.

Sunday afternoon is studio time at E. M. HEATH'S studio on Lincoln and Thirteenth, where E. M. HEATH is displaying her oil marines and landscape paintings for all her friends, fellow artists and interested art public to come and visit. All those interested in seeing a display of beautiful paintings will check down Sunday afternoon between one and five for a delightful visit to the E. M. HEATH studio on Lincoln and Thirteenth. And please remember this is visit time, not sale time.

The HERITAGE ANTIQUE SHOP has done it again with an Easter tea window filled with Russian pieces. Taking stage center is a huge brass samovar flanked with brass candlesticks, Russian tea cozies of babuschkas, the village gossip and the tea drinker, (there are smaller babuschkas just as amusing). And there are cookie jars, tea caddies, spoons, pin boxes, and cigarette boxes of decorated wood with permanent finish. These make excellent Easter gifts. To complete the Easter touch there are two perky Staffordshire hens sitting perkily on nests.

Serving luncheon every day from 11:00 to 3:00 is the BETSY JARVIS restaurant on Lincoln. They are closed on Sundays but are ready every other day with the tastiest luncheon dishes possible.

Opening Saturday, March 27, to carry on its tradition of gaiety, the CASA MUNRAS will reveal to the world a remodeled patio room, a Merienda room with an enlarged dance floor, and Danny Danziger, vacation fresh, to play for you. The Patio room will receive great attention on Easter Sunday where it will host for a special Easter dinner all afternoon and evening long. All that energy you've been saving up can now be unleashed to the tune of excellent music and the pleasure of plenty of room to dance in it.

If you want true relaxation to enable you to whirl casually through all your appointments, you should let IDA HANKE give you a good thorough European massage; you'll tingle all over, sparkle all over, and feel gone with the nerves. IDA greets all of her friends and the general public with happy Easter wishes.

Swirls of color up at BALZER'S CARMEL DEPARTMENT STORE where Playafores by Gingham Girl show new patterns and new colors in dresses at 5.95 and smocks at 4.95. The dresses are multi- colored seersucker, long, very decollete, button down the back, to be mated with sun, sandals, and tan. The smocks have circular necks open down the front, are wonderfully colored and so ready for all you Carmel artists and pottery makers; and the colors should inspire you to a great many new, dazzling touches.

The integrated preserved rusticity of the MEL-O-DEE FLOWER SHOP on Dolores is always delightful to visit and particularly at Easter time when it is filled with beautiful cut flowers for your vases, with flowers to be formed to corsages, with wonderful potted plants of Easter lillies, hydrangeas, azaleas, African violets and heather. Be sure to step into the scented high ceilinged room of the MEL-O-DEE FLOWER SHOP and select your Easter flowers.

Sheer delicate blouses with matching slips are to be found at GAIL COUPE'S shop on San Carlos, Carmel. The blouses can be had with short sleeves or long full sleeves, and the slips are all hand made with satin applique work which matches the applique of the blouses. White, pastel pink and blue are the colors, and a fetching feature of the blouses is a button down the back arrangement. A lady with spring on her mind can do no less than appear in one of these wistful blouses from GAIL COUPE'S. Phone- 666-W.

Discriminating smokers who don't know should know that Suttliff's 79 tobacco can be had no place on the peninsula but at EL FUMADOR on Dolores. This popular tobacco can be had in packages or cans. EL FUMADOR also carries a full line of the famous Corona Cuban cigars.

A pretty pink and yellow candy chicken is not enough when Easter approaches. Go down to the CARMEL DRIVE IN MEAT MARKET and ask Mr. Turney to wrap up for you one of his corn fed special spring chickens from Sunny Hill Farm. These chickens are 12 weeks old, corn fed, and have never been on the ground. They are the kind that mother used to wish she could raise, and now science has stepped in and done it for her. Mr. Turney also offers you a 5 pound roaster excellent for frying or roasting. Don't let those chickens escape you at Easter time.

Is your wardrobe clean, shining and ready for spring? Have you gone over all those sweaters and skirts and blouses, seen that everything is spotless and ready for Easter holidays, for spring activities? If you haven't, the CARMEL CLEANERS on Dolores are ready with excellent fast service to help you get that wardrobe in shape. And they send you the best and happiest of Easter greetings.

If you're feeling langorous, Oriental and hungry, all at the same time, we suggest a visit to the PINE DEW SUKIYAKI RESTAURANT on Cass street and a meal of beef teriyaki which is beef broiled Japanese style covered with special sauce. Also added to this restaurant's choice menu of Japanese and American dishes, are Salmon Teriyaki and Yaki Sa-Kana, fried halibut to you. Dinners run from $1.60 to $3.00. And just because the floodlights are off at night, due to the emergency situation, don't think the PINE DEW has closed its doors. They are open from 11:00 a.m. to 11:00 p.m. every day except Wednesday.

Added to the fine working staff at the EL PASEO BEAUTY STUDIO are two new experts in hair styling: Mr. Mark of San Francisco and Mr. Jamil of New York. These two are specialists in the highly skilled techniques of hair cutting, hair styling, and permanent waving. All followers of current hair styles will be eager for clipping so they may emerge with the new brush cut curl. And all women in general will be interested in the $10.00 permanent special which will be given through Easter week at the EL PASEO BEAUTY STUDIO.

Opened March 24, the exquisitely restful RANCHO LOS LAURELLES LODGE in Carmel's enchanting valley, is featuring lunches and dinners served every day and prepared by internationalist Frank Hershey. There is no reason why you should stand in front of a mirror moaing about your weight and why nothing fits or looks well when all you have to do is go up to the STAUFFER SYSTEM on Mission and Fifth and let all that expert machinery clean the poundage right off you. They have machines to suit every part of you that wants reducing. It is all very simple, takes little time, and you will feel exhilerated after the treatment. So don't waste any more worry energy; go to the STAUFFER SYSTEM and get reduced.

That rare combination of beauty, brains, and cooking ability, is found in the personable person of Mary Knox loaded with the responsibility of preparing all those rare food combinations found up at the VILLAGE CORNER. When nice weather permits and the rains are not flooding us out, you can peer through the upper open half of the Dutch door in the patio and see Mary playing about in that beautifully clean, green and white kitchen. The kitchen, incidentally, is open to public inspection at all times. And the VILLAGE CORNER will be open Easter Day as per usual.

Easter Sunday will see the opening of the San Carlos Hotel's redecorated Sky Room, under the supervision of Daavin Johnston, well known in similar duties at the Mark Hopkins and many a famous New York hostelry. The chief attraction, in addition to brunch, will be prizes to be given during the Easter Parade for the most attractive woman's chapeaux, and lovliest ensemble.

From the adjoining terrace, with its warm southern exposure, patrons will enjoy an unusual view of Monterey and its mountains. There will be considerable competition among the feminine leaders of the festive parade, since many guests will attend from surrounding residential sections of the Peninsula. The jury will be composed of two so far unamed gentlemen, whose judgment and awards will be final.

After Easter the Sky Room's cocktail lounge will open, and special luncheons will be served.

Eleventh Birthday

A luncheon birthday party was given for Eleanor Allaire at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Allaire to celebrate Eleanor's 11th birthday. All her little friends wore long dresses, the table was decorated with Easter pastel colors and motif and everyone enjoyed chicken and dumplings, ice cream and birthday cake. The next day, March 21, which was Eleanor's true birthday and the first day of spring, a family party was held in celebration of the event.

Fashion Show

The Wednesday Fashion Show at the Pine Inn was again a double feature showing clothes from the Country Shop and girls' clothes and 'teen-agers from Gladys McCloud's shop. The clothes were presented so that the mature Country Shop models were interspersed with 'teen-age models in young clothes.

The Country Shop clothes were distinguished by the fine tailoring and beautiful materials from New York designers Charles Armour, Davidow, Adler, Starmaid, and others always carried by this established shop. Four hits of the choice collection were: a soft grey 2 piece Forstman wool with double cape effect in the jacket, sleeves ending in white cuffs, designed by Mutual-Rosenbloom and modeled by tall lean new model Sallie Kvenild; a Charles Armour black and white two piece print in smart modern design also modeled by Miss Kvenild, a hand loomed pale lime boucle shown by another new model Mrs. Leroy Bennet who carried a very smart pastel printed scarf, and a truly stunning evening gown designed by RK Formals and beautifully displayed by handsome Mrs. J. B. Drachnik. The gown was strapless, very decollete, was formed of black net over long black crepe with seductive and frou frou ruching of net around the shoulders and about the hips. Other especially interesting designs were the poised evening gown of pale green with sequinned and embroideried panels by Mrs. Bennet, a navy bolero wool gabardine with white lacy vest and lace on the cuffs shown by Mrs. John Clancy, an extremely handsome navy wool suit shown to full advantage by the red and white stripe blouse and worn by Miss Kvenild, and a long crepe afternoon gown with low shirred neck gracefully shown by Mrs. Drachnik. Lending an air of sophisticated simplicity were the large black Leslie James hats, strands of pearls and white gloves worn by the models with most of the costumes.

Clothes for springtime and summer were also shown among them: a good looking Adler one piece of yellow top with haltered black crepe skirt, a white sharkskin with blue and white striped jacket, striped belt, and showing amusing double straps when the jacket is taken off, a pure linen dress with navy jacket piped in white, and a charming little blue skirted chambray with a jacket in blue and pink bands.

Children make smart models as shown by Sarah McCloud aged 10, Sandra Smith, 9, Edelan Cory, 15, and Mary Adams 13, who modeled neatly and with poise for the Gladys McCloud shop. Sarah appeared in blue shorts with red and white striped tea shirt, a blue covert cloth coat and a delicious white chintz dress with pink roses; Sandra in a grown up Hollywood Knit suit in aqua with full new skirt, and a Jantzen swim suit with a pink sweater tossed about her shoulders; pretty blonde Edelan showed a one piece blue chambray torso tsyle, and a very chic candy striped afternoon dress with full all the way around peplum, topped with a coral topcoat; and Mary wore a neat ensemble of white blouse, plaid wool skirt and white top coat, she also displayed a real Carmel outfit of Dudettes, blue jeans for girls, with wonderful long sleeved paid shirt.

Next week the Cinderella Shop will present the Fashion Show at Wednesday luncheon at the Pine Inn from 12:00 to 2:00 p.m.

Seven Courts Art Show

The Carmel Art Shop is showing a series of paintings by Miss Mabel Morgan, student of Mr. Lee Randolph's, at its gallery in the Seven Arts Court building. Miss Morgan studied 2½ years at Hackensack, New Jersey, with artist Hansalpaker and after that with Aldro Hibbard, Rockport, Mass. Her art studies were then interrupted by four years of nursing in Alaska and resumed when she started studying with Mr. Randolph.

Throughout her paintings, Miss Morgan shows interesting brush work and makes a fine use of color in a painting called "Experiment In Color" where she plays with blue tones with nice technique. Her landscapes are neat and compact, and the still lifes, again, show brilliant color sense. Fishermans Wharf with buildings bright blue and yellow and red displays all the charm of Monterey's fishing center.

There is an interesting portrait, done with slight Cezanne effect, and a landscape of the wintry New Jersey coast gives one a chance to glimpse Miss Morgan's earlier style.

Red Cross Entertains

The Carmel Chapter of the Red Cross entertained with a Saint Patrick's party for patients at Fort Ord Station Hospital on Wednesday, March 17 from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. The boys who celebrated their birthdays during the month of March were guests of honor. Each one received a birthday gift which was presented individually by the master of ceremonies.

The entertainment was a melodrama "He Done Wrong by Little Nell," which was given by the players from Monterey. The Olios which followed the play were heartily received. The St. Patrick's motif was handsomely carried out in the decorations. In the center of the table was a centerpiece of ferns and leaves with gigantic green and white lollipops arranged as a bouquet with silver candelabra holding tall green tapers. On the table was a mammoth white cake with Happy Birthday written in green with a border of green candles. Coffee, individual ice cream, and cake were served by hostesses from the Carmel Red Cross chapter. The patients who were confined to their wards were sent refreshments.

A rare treat was given the patients earlier in the day when violinist Albert Spalding played for them.

Can rain solve the power problem?

Up-to-date answers to questions about the shortage

1 Are rains enough? No. Literally, too much water's gone out of too many reservoirs. Rains now cannot be expected to replace it.

2 Just how bad is the drought? It's the worst water power year in our history. This season's rainfall is far below normal. The snowpack in the mountains is scant. What snow and rain we have had has been poorly distributed—not enough of it in the area where it's needed most. And . . . to make things worse . . . this dry season follows a dry one last year.

3 What's the drought got to do with electricity? Water is power. Water shortage means power shortage. We have 14 steam-electric generating plants, but most of California's electricity is supplied by water. Today our 55 hydro-electric plants need water. Our 121 reservoirs are thirsty. Some are almost empty. The drought, too, creates unusual irrigation demands in orchards and farms. Pumping water takes still more electricity. That makes a bad problem worse.

4 Is the drought the only cause of the emergency? No. Actually there are many causes and the drought intensifies them. The story, boiled down, is this: During the war years we couldn't obtain priorities to maintain our normal building program. As soon as war controls were removed in 1945 we started all over again placing orders for generators, boilers, transformers and other equipment. Complex generators aren't sold like used cars. They must be built to order, piece-by-piece. The few plants in our country equipped to make them were crippled by strikes and other obstacles. Their production suffered. Delivery dates were missed. To make a tough problem tougher, the demand for electric power has increased even faster than California's tremendous growth in population.

Just last January we received the first steam-electric generator ordered before the war and re-ordered in 1945.

Place all these things together. Add the drought and the greatest migration in history. That's the emergency.

5 Where does the situation stand today? At best it is serious. We have been doing our best, and have been doing so right along, to get power from every source...and rush more steam-electric generators into service. But, as it stands today, no one can tell how long this critical situation will last...or how much worse it will get.

6 Will the new Shasta power help? Of course. Every bit helps. But new Shasta power alone is only a fraction of the total needed. Our area demand is more than 2,000,000 kilowatts. Shasta is expected to supply, next month, about 75,000 additional kilowatts, and another 75,000 kilowatts later in the year. It will help but you can see it won't go far.

7 How about daylight saving time? That means more help . . . equal to about 140,000 kilowatts. But it's still not a solution. The biggest saving, of course, is the 20% cut in use, ordered by the California Public Utilities Commission.

8 What is our record of public service? Let's take a quick look at the score: Except in wartime when we were refused priorities we have always built successfully ahead of demand. Our area enjoys the greatest farm electrification in the country. Our farms are 98% electrified . . . far ahead of other sections. Our rates are low. During the war we supplied power to a staggering number of industries. Not one was ever shut down for lack of power. Throughout California's greatest years of development electric power in good supply and at low rates has played a major part.

9 What are we doing to solve present problems? Since the war we've been building just as fast as is humanly possible...in spite of delayed delivery dates, material shortages and the like.

Right now, we're in the midst of a huge program of building hydro and steam electric plants. In the last year of the war, 1945, we spent over $22,500,000 on that program; in 1946, $45,000,000 and in 1947 over $100,000,000. Our 1948 construction expenditures are running at a rate exceeding $10,000,000 per month.

We're going to provide just as much power from as many sources, as we can . . . in spite of obstacles.

Here's how you can lend a helping hand

This problem is everybody's problem . . . agriculture, industry, labor, business and householders. You can add your help by remembering to turn off all lights you aren't actually using . . . in the hall, on the porch, in the bathroom, in the garage. You can keep down the use of electric heaters. You can make sure the refrigerator door is tightly closed. With just a little care you can help a lot to stretch precious power. Won't you lend your helping hand?

Dear Sir:

Who has had the effrontery to spoil the beauty of your Town Library, the charm of which has been heralded as far away as Vermont?

I refer to a monstrosity, a wrongly-shaped thing, that has been stuck squarely in the middle of the cathedral-like main window. The architect, who designed the building, knew how to create an effect in the long lines of that window. Now a squat-looking bookcase, with utter disregard for artistic sense and civic pride, has been stuck right in the middle of it, spoiling the grace and beauty of the lines. One might as well erect a gallows and have a body hanging there! At least, it would be more theatrical.

I have recently moved to California from New England. Before I came, I heard of Carmel and the great and beautiful window of its library. I was told of the lovely fireplace within, a fireplace that was actually used. I came to your truly charming town at first chance to see with mine own eyes. When I saw that window, I shuddered.

Can't something be done to restore the beautiful architectural lines of that great window? It seems shameful to needlessly spoil a truly lovely thing.

/S/ Architect.

Dear Architect: (This is not an anonymous letter; he signed his name but asked that it be withheld from publication.)

Something can be done to restore the beautiful architectural lines of that great window. The library can be enlarged—and should be—to make room for the overflow of books that now have to be put in makeshift bookcases.—The Ed.

"Thine, O Lord, is the greatness and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all" (I Chronicles 29:11). This is the Golden Text for the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, March 28,. The subject is "Realty."

Included in the sermon are the following citations:

Luke: "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God" (13: 11, 13).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If sickness is true or the idea of Truth, you cannot destroy sickness, and it would be absurd to try. Then classify sickness and error as our Master did, when he spoke of the sick, 'whom Satan hath bound,' and find a sovereign antidote for error in the life-giving power of Truth acting on human belief, a power which opens the prison doors to such as are bound, and sets the captive free physically and morally" (p. 495).

State Approves Carmel Valley Fire Fighting Station

Operation of a fire fighting station in upper Carmel Valley has been approved by the State Forestry Service, according to Paul Porter, Valley fire commissioner. The station will be operated jointly by the Tularcitos Fire Protection District and the State Forestry Service, Porter said. It is planned that a State fire crew will man the station, in return for which the Tularcitos district will provide the land and buildings and supplement operation costs.

Voters of the area will go to the polls April 5 to decide whether the district will authorize the raising of funds for joint operation of the station.

Porter said the commission would raise funds by a direct tax on property owners in the district, at a rate of about 50 cents per $100 of assesed valuation.

Voters will also select a person to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Frank Lang. Only local resident to file application for the post was Norman Marshall.

Carmel High To Hold Fair On April 2

Bowling, hammering nails, shooting basketballs, throwing darts and dancing will be only a few of the activities at the Fair to be held in the Carmel High School gynasium on Friday, April 2, according to General Chairmen, Jennefer Lloyd and Biz Carr.

Physicist Discusses Possible Solution For Saving Civilization

The atomic scientists, Shank says, are not responsible for Hiroshima. Sixty-four of them petitioned President Truman to use the bomb first on vacant land, after making our war aims completely known to the Japanese. But the Army authorities persuaded the President to drop the bombs on the two Japanese cities. The fact that the scientists emphasize this shows how they feel about this gigantic power they have created.

Shank will discuss fully the possibility of the use of atomic energy for power, exploding exaggerated claims that haye been made, but pointing out the great potential possibilities. He will explain the great contribution being made to medicine and research. But he will, so far as military censorship permits, try to give a clear picture of the danger atomic energy presents. There must be knowledge of these facts before the public can determine a wise policy, and one is greatly needed.

According to Shank, although as many as 30 million persons may be killed in an initial atomic attack upon the United States (General Grove's estimate), the greatest danger may come from radioactivity created by the explosions.

Shank feels that there are two solutions that combined may save civilization from the terrible devastation of an atomic war. The first is the pressure of moral force to turn studies toward the constructive uses of atomic energy. The second is some form of world federation, which the American people strongly favor. But neither can solve the problem until there is wide understanding of the facts.

Owners Meet To Discuss Improvement

Owners of property along 10th and 11th streets met last Friday with Mayor Fred Godwin and members of the city council to discuss proposed work for the two streets and to voice opinions on whether or not the work should be done.

It was explained by Godwin that six communications received by the city were against any such street work and that unless other owners could get the objectors to reverse their opinions it would be impossible to go ahead with the work. Under the voluntary contributory plan for street work, the council cannot require anyone to pay or in any way assess them.

Two committees were appointed to contact all property owners. For 10th street, members will be Eben Whittlesey, Louis B. Sawyer and Raymond F. Pratt. For 11th street, Charles Fonteneau, and two others to be chosen by him.

Local Artists May Submit Work For Southern Show

Local artists are invited to submit their work to a jury show, the Madonna Festival, which will be held at the Wilshire Methodist Church at Wilshire Boulevard and Plymouth in Los Angeles, it was announced by the Carmel Art Association.

The show will be held from May 2 to 9 and all entries must be in by April 15. Mother and child subjects only will be on exhibition and may be traditional Madonnas or not. The festival committee is interested primarily in contemporary artists and their interpretations of this theme.

Entries may include paintings, etchings, carvings, sculpture, ceramics, glass, or any other medium suitable for artistic expression. Entry blanks may be obtained from the Gallery or from festival headquarters.

New Robles Approch Is Under Construction

A new approach from the Robles del Rio gates to the recently completed bridge over Carmel River is now under construction and when finished will eliminate the former dangerous curve and narrow road.

During last week's rains, several motorists became stuck in the mud on the detour, but Joe Algrava and his jeep came to the rescue and those stranded were soon pulled out.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press, just phone Carmel 1.

Smooth Operator Takes Carmel Shops For About $800

A smooth operator, dressed in an Army lieutenant colonel's uniform, "worked" a number of Carmel shops early this month, and departed $800 richer, leaving behind him a string of bad checks. He was William H. McLarty, Jr., alias Col. H. W. Terry, and is wanted by civilian and military authorities, as well as the FBI, for illegal uniform wearing, desertion from both the Army and Navy, bad check passing, and auto theft.

He is described as being six feet tall, with hazel eyes and brown, close-cropped hair. A warrant of arrest was filed March 18 by the Beaux Arts Studio and Camera Shop after a check for $268, with which McLarty bought a camera, bounced back from the bank. Among McLarty's other Carmel victims were the Lords and Lads, Ltd. shop, and the Spalding shop.

Maude Hogle

Mrs. Maude Hogle, a beloved resident of Carmel for more than 30 years, passed away yesterday morning at her home here. Mrs. Hogle came to Carmel with a literary group which included poet Geo. Sterling and his mother, and decided to stay, building her first home at 12th and Monte Verde.

A graduate of Northwestern University, she was for a time a teacher of dramatic expression in San Francisco and on the Peninsula. She was well known here for her civic as well as her literary interests. During recent years she has made her home at 8th and Monte Verde, and until ten years ago she was active in Carmel real estate.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Chancellor Jenks of Evanston, Ill., currently in Carmel, and by two brothers, Ernest H. Lyons of Chicago and Harry L. Lyons of Florida.

The Paul Mortuary in Monterey is handling arrangements, and a private service will be held in Oakland on a date yet to be determined.
